SENATE LEADERS TALK POLITICS

"Peace Despite, Not Because of Wilson," Says Townsend. Sidetrack D. C. Business.

Many of the Republican leaders of the Senate were in New York yesterday to hear the acceptance speech of Candidate Hughes, and the Senate marked time with discussions of the Mexican situation, the foreign policy, prohibition, tariff, Federal reserve act, immigration, and other political matters in the foreground, and the District appropriation bill was temporarily sidetracked.

Senators Walsh and Thomas took occasion to criticize the law which made it possible for Charles Evans Hughes to become a candidate for the Presidency. "If Hughes should be elected, there would no longer be any check upon the ambitious judge who looked with longing eyes upon the White House," said Senator Walsh.

Senator Townsend, of Michigan, defended the Republican candidate, and said that it was a compliment to Mr. Hughes that no one has raised any issue against him that the one raised by the Senator from Montana. He assailed the President's foreign policy and declared that "the country is at peace despite the President and not because of him."

IMMIGRATION IN SENATE DEFERRED

Educational Measure Passes Upper Chamber Without Roll Call.

Senator Poindexter made an unsuccessful attempt to have the immigration bill considered by the Senate yesterday. Members voted 35 to 17 to adhere to the administration legislation program, but Senator Smith, of South Carolina, assured the Republican members of the Senate that a vote on the measure could be counted on for this session. President Wilson wants a vote deferred until the short session in December.

Senator Borah said that if he could be assured that action was probable at this session, it would serve to have him withhold his plan of tacking on the immigration bill as a rider to the child labor law. Senator Smith replied that he could not govern the majority but was expressing his personal feelings on the matter.

Following this, the Senate passed without a roll call, the vocational educational bill, which provides for government co-operation with the States in the promotion of education in agriculture, trades and industries, and commercial occupations.

River Trip Offers Cool Rest.

If you wish to spend a quiet, comfortable evening go to the Colonial Beach line pier any evening and go aboard the steamer Gratitude for a cool and comfortable trip on the river. The Gratitude leaves here each evening of the week at 7 p. m., spends four hours on the cool river, and reaches home again about 11 p. m. There is no dancing aboard the Gratitude, but a most delightful trip can be had when true comfort and pleasure is desired. The excursionist returns home rested and refreshed and ready for a night of good, healthful sleep. These trips of the Gratitude are daily growing in popularity with those who want to rest after a hot day. But three hundred passengers are taken on these trips. Stops are made at Alexandria.
